Medical Assistance in Dying (MAID)

Under Review: Yes Issued by Council: June 1, 2016 Reissued by Council: Apr. 1, 2023

The Standards of Practice of the College of Physicians & Surgeons of Alberta ("CPSA") are the minimum standards of professional behavior and ethical conduct expected of all regulated members registered in Alberta. Standards of Practice are enforceable under the Health Professions Act and will be referenced in the management of complaints and in discipline hearings. CPSA also provides Advice to the Profession to support the implementation of the Standards of Practice.

Note: a glossary of terms can be found at the end of this document. Glossary terms are indicated in teal with a "G" throughout this document.

PREAMBLE

For the purpose of this standard, "medical assistance in dying" (MAID) means the administration of medications by a regulated member to a person, or the prescribing or providing of medications, and within the parameters set out in the Legislation and Regulations, by a regulated member, to a person at their request, to intentionally cause the person's own death. Section 241.2 of the Criminal Code of Canada (Criminal Code) creates the legal authority for MAID, and all regulated members must understand the scope and requirements outlined in section 241.2.

With the addition of section 241.2 of the Criminal Code, MAID was first legalized in Canada in 2016 for individuals with terminal illnesses. In 2021, section 241.2 of the Criminal Code was amended to include non-terminal physical conditions excluding mental illness. Bill C-7 was introduced in Oct. 2020 to remove the mental illness exemption; however, Bill C-39 allows for the eligibility for persons whose sole underlying condition to be a mental illness to access MAID.

At this time, mature minors<sup>G</sup> and advance directives remain ineligible for MAID under the Criminal Code.

Regulated members have a right under the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms to freedom of conscience and religion and, as such, are not obligated to administer or participate in MAID processes. Regulated members must follow the Conscientious Objection standard of practice if they decline a request for MAID services: the regulated member's conscientious objection must not impede the rights of patients to receive unbiased information about and timely access to any legally permissible and available health services, including MAID.

Just as regulated members have the right to act according to their conscience, they must also respect differences of opinion among colleagues and patients, while meeting their duty of non-abandonment to the patient by acknowledging and responding in a manner that is just to the patient's medical concerns and requests regardless of the regulated member's moral construct<sup>1</sup>.

For additional guidance, please refer to the "Companion Resources" at the end of this document.

STANDARD

- A regulated member who receives an inquiry from a patient regarding MAID must provide the patient, or their representative, with contact information for the Alberta Health Services' (AHS) MAID care coordination service, as soon as reasonably possible.
- 2. A regulated member who declines a request for MAID for reasons of personal conscience or religion or lack of resources/expertise must do so in accordance with the Conscientious Objection standard of practice.
- 3. A regulated member who provides or assesses patients for MAID must follow the "Medical Assistance in Dying (MAID) in Alberta Guidelines."
- 4. A regulated member who receives, evaluates or acts upon a written request<sup>G</sup> for MAID must do so in accordance with relevant legal requirements which include, but are not limited to, the Criminal Code.<sup>2</sup>
- 5. A regulated member who provides MAID must:
  - follow the safeguards outlined in the Criminal Code when determining a patient's eligibility;
